

CONVENTION OF THE POPULISTS.

OPENING OF WASHINGTON.

Matters Before the Board of Public Works.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire. SIOUX FALLS, S. D., May 9.—The dawn of the first day of the National Convention of the People's Party was entirely uneventful so far as weather could make, and the promise for a liberal attendance of delegates and outside visitors was fully improved by the fresh arrivals of last night and this morning. Among those who came in were delegates from Minnesota, Missouri and Idaho. Senator Hettie of Idaho and Temporary Chairman P. J. Blingdale of Minnesota were among the new comers. Some of the Minnesota cast some what of a damper upon Mr. Towne's prospects for the vice-presidential nomination by declaring that they are more concerned over bringing the convention to a harmonious conclusion than they were to secure the nomination of any one. While devoted to Mr. Towne, they do not propose to allow personality to stand in the way, and if need be they are willing to adjourn without making any nomination, referring the entire question to a conference committee. Others say that Mr. Towne may be counted in if nominated to get out of the way it should prove unaccordant to the democrats. Senator Pettigrew is still pressing Towne's claims.

After a heated discussion for more than 4 hours the Kansas delegation voted to postpone action on the vice-presidential question until tomorrow. The sentiment, however, was heavy against the nomination of a vice-presidential candidate, but a great difference of opinion was expressed as to whether the convention should report certain names to the democratic convention or whether a committee should be appointed to go to Kansas City, July 4, and confer with the democratic leaders and be authorized to offer the Democratic nominee on the Populist ticket. The latter plan seemed to have the stronger support.

SECRET SESSION OF THE SENATE.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire. WASHINGTON, May 9.—Mr. Hale called up the naval appropriation bill. In a statement he said that when the bill was laid under consideration yesterday the Senate was in secret session.

"In view of present conditions (referring evidently to the publication today of the results of the secret session) I leave it to the Senator from South Carolina (Mr. Tillman) whether he deems it wise or otherwise to proceed with the measure in secret session."

"Remember what occurred in the Senate during the secret session," Mr. Tillman replied, "and what appeared in the newspapers this morning, I am persuaded it would be almost impossible to prevent the newspapers from getting the information, although they did publish more than occurred in the Senate and—"

Mr. Vest of Missouri—I think the Senate better go into secret session.

Mr. Tillman—I hope the Senator will permit me to complete my observations.

Mr. Vest—I make a motion for a secret session. The Senator's remarks are proving the accuracy of newspapers' reports.

Mr. Chamberlain of New Hampshire seconded Mr. Vest's motion, and at 3:20 the Senate's doors were closed.

Rosenberger, and he will continue the business at the same place, and in the future the public will find greater bargains than ever in footwear. Mr. Goldberg will soon inaugurate a money raising sale and will sacrifice his present stock at ridiculously low prices.

VON PULOW'S EATING REBURNES.

During Hans von Pulow's leadership of the orchestra at Hanover as tenor of fane, he was engaged to play a star role in "Lohengrin," and while the singer was rehearsing his part, von Pulow was forced to go over the same bars a number of times without the new actor beginning to sing. Tired of his wasted efforts, the leader stopped the orchestra and angrily turned to the singer.

"I know that a tenor is proverbially stupid," he said, "but you seem to make an extensive use of this unwritten law."

At another time, while one of his grand intermezzos was being played with great effect by his musicians, a peculiar noise, hardly perceptible by untrained ears, annoyed the leader for some little time. At first he thought it resembled the flutter of wings, but soon he discovered an elegant lady fanning herself in one of the boxes close by. Pulow kept on with his gestures, fixing his eyes on the offender in a manner which meant reproof. The lady, not heeding this, was suddenly surprised by the leader dropping his stick and turning toward her.

"Madam!" he cried, "if you must, please, at least, keep time with your internal nuisance!"—Das Neue Blatt.

Y. M. C. A. Camp.

Pomeroy, Assistant Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association, left on the Owl train last evening for Los Angeles, where he will spend the balance of this month in work in the interests of the camp for boys to be held at Santa Catalina Island, during June and July, which will be personally supervised by Mr. Noel H. WEDNESDAY.....MAY 9, 1900

Queen Victoria has sent a photograph of herself to Colonel Kockewich, the hero of Kimberley. That savor of a negative kind of praise though, after all.

The rubber business is said to be making great strides in America. This statement will have to be admitted in view of the large number of rubber heels that are being used nowadays.

Prominent society men have been worsted in an aspistic deal. They doubtless figured it meant the road to wealth, but they didn't get very far along before they discovered they were badly stuck.

Another mining excitement has broken out up north, this time on a creek called Big Salmon. That is an appropriately named place for a run and also conveys the idea that it should not be hard work to get a stake there.

A postmaster has been appointed at California at a salary of $1 per year. That savor more of a souvenir than a salary and seems to have been awarded for the purpose of letting him know what money looks like. As postmasters are paid quarterly, the amount he will draw down each time will be very appropriate.

McKinley is going to appoint Grover Cleveland and Benjamin Harrison as permanent Peace Commissioners. Instead of being able to maintain peace for others they will have a hard time keeping it between themselves, especially as they will have to discuss politics in the course of their business.

The attempt of the Democratic press to make it appear that McKinley is fighting the Nicaragua Canal will not hold water, even in their own camp. Everyone knows that McKinley has been an ardent champion of the project from the first, and if he is now inclined to hasten slowly, it is because he has good reasons therefore in the interests of the people and not on account of any personal desire to block the enterprise.

THE COUNTY INFIRMARY.

The statements made at the meeting of the Associated Charities of Oakland by Dr. Clark of the County Infirmary regarding the high grade at which that institution is at present conducted will be read with much satisfaction by the taxpayers of Alameda county. A County Infirmary is a peculiar institution in its way. In it are housed not the hot-sants and jects of society—those who through viciousness and inaction have failed to obtain even enough of the world's goods to support them in their old age—but the honored poor, those who have become dependent upon their fellow men more through misfortune than any fault of their own.

It is all very well for those who have scored success in life to pride of the ease with which a man can make his way in the world if he only tries, but the unfairness of such strictures becomes apparent the moment it is recalled how occasionally the fates seem to conspire against some particular individual and no matter what he does everything goes wrong. Then again must be taken into consideration the fact that some men are not as well equipped for life's battles as are others. In many instances they have not had the benefits of early education or training, some have traveled the road of misfortune as a result of sickness, others have had to brush up against conditions they were not able to contend with either physically or mentally, fire or flood may perchance have occasioned the illness, in fact, there are countless ways in which poverty can be accounted for other than by drunkenness or crime, the conclusions at which most people jump. No one begrudges, therefore, the money spent to give to these unfortunate some of the creature comforts we are enjoying ourselves, and the officials who have adopted this line of policy regarding the institution can feel well satisfied that they have the thorough endorsement of the community.

NOT A PARALLEL.

The Democrats admit that so-called "imperialism" is to be made an issue in the Presidential campaign. Bryan has announced it, the masses of his party have vociferously taken up the declaration and already the Democratic editors are reading history. The unwonted exercise has not produced any notable results from the point of view of common sense but it is a commentary on their idea of the intelligence of their readers that they have alighted as with one accord on the Roman empire.

Fortunately it does not require columns of double-leaded arguments to expose the hollow sham of their pretensions to scholarship and patriotism. The boys of our high schools could set them right on many points but the Democrats desire nothing so little as correction and assuming that no one but themselves has ever read the narrative of the rise and fall of Rome, they are now industriously engaged in shouting "Behold the Empire of the Caesars" and quoting particularly from Froude's history of Julius Caesar, as follows: "If there be one lesson that history clearly teaches, it is this, that free nations cannot govern subject provinces. If they are unable or unwilling to admit their dependencies to share their own constitution, the constitution itself will fall to pieces from mere incompetency for its duties."

New Froude's broad generalization is not true, nor does history teach anything of the kind, simply because it never had the opportunity so to do. Rome, as he shows himself, was not free. It was an oligarchy in its form of government—a "close corporation" as we should say today. But assuming that it were true, no man of any education would presume to find a parallel between the condition of the Romans at the end of the Punic wars and the polity of the sovereign commonwealths which compose the United States of America. Our country is a land of free men. We have no castes, no classes. Here are no patricians and plebeians continually quarreling one with the other and hiring bands of assassins and professional swordsmen to fight pitched battles at the polls. Our courts are the seats of law and justice and our jurists are men of learning and integrity. Our voters are industrious and self-supporting and are not fed by the bounty of the State. Our lands are not owned by the few but by the many and our conquered territories are being given as liberal a form of government as that provided by Congress for the embryo states in the heart of continental America and even broader than that under which Alaska has been governed since its purchase from Russia.

The truth is that the Great American Republic is sui generis. Nothing in history foreshadowed its rise and growth and there are no precedents by which to predict its future. Rome least of all. We are living in the bright light of today and we shall continue to develop under the sun of freedom without aid from the rays of the flickering rushlight of Roman history. If the Democrats would study the conditions of the hour and cease to delude in musty volumes for obscure and impossible parallels they would probably learn something. At any rate they would at least save themselves from being as ridiculous in the public eye as they now are.

Colored Methodists will undoubtedly enthusiastically endorse the proposition of the general conference to give the lay members more power. Most of them will vote for it under the impression that it means encouragement of the chicken industry.

QUO VADIS IS A DRAMATIC EVENT. The Dewey's fine production of "Quo Vadis" an event of magnitude in the local theatrical world. Another large audience witnessed the performance last night, and was liberal in its applause. Lander Stevens in the role of Marcus Vinicius is happily cast. He looks the Roman tribune to the life, and his character and part are well fitted and intelligent. The part of Nero is impersonated by E. J. Holden, who gives a striking rendering of the part, bringing out the ferocious cruelty of Nero's character with vivid realism. Miss Gillette, as Livia, a strong and resolute maiden, invests the role with a strong character and Maud Miller as the slave is notably good. William B. Mack scored a hit as Trigellius, a Roman general who figures as the villain of the play. Not counting the extras, there are thirty-three people in the cast, and it is gaudy and evenly balanced. The scenic effects are superb, the arena scene and the burning of Rome being notably fine. A pleasing feature of the production is the excellent music of the orchestra, which has been enlarged for the occasion.

CLASS DAY

of Study Next Term.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, May 9.—Beginning at 6:30 o'clock on May 10, Thursday, May 10th, there will be a band concert under the oak at the same time the members of the graduating class will assemble at Stiles Hall and form in line for the class photograph, which will commence promptly at 8:30.

The class will bid farewell to the various University buildings, after which they will proceed to the site of the President's house, where the very important ceremony, a breakfast, ground for the greater University, will take place. Music and short addresses, followed by the breaking of ground by Mrs. Hearst, will be the order of exercises.

CALIFORNIA STAFF CHOSEN.

Edward A. Dickson, who will edit the college daily, the California, during the coming semester, has announced the following as his assistants: Managing editor, Alfred C. M. '92; sports editor, John E. Echelman, '92; athletic editor, Stuart Mastors; associate editors, Miss Muriel Eastman, '91; Benjamin Marcom, '91; E. P. Mansfield, '92; J. A. Brewer, '93; J. F. Lumberger, '93; R. L. Langworthy, '93.

"CISM" and a course for graduate students in the History of Esthetic. Hereafter freshmen will study the history of English literature instead of the old Minco course, and sophomores will study the masterpieces of English prose. Hereafter students who desire recommendation by the English department for teachers certification will have to pass an examination with at least two foreign languages, one of which must be Latin or Greek. On and after May 1, 1902, candidates for the certificate in English will be required to take the University credit for twelve units in Latin or Greek, and one in History.

The department of decorative and industrial art will be omitted entirely. Courses in elementary and freehand drawing and architecture will be given, however, under the charge of Hermann Kowen, C. E., assistant professor of instrumental drawing.

The courses in mathematics will be reorganized in order to conform with the general curriculum of the colleges of general culture.

A NEW SYSTEM.

Those prominent in athletic circles at the University of California are advocating the adoption of a new plan of management for the training house during the next football season. Heretofore the house has always been managed by the students, who expected the football squad to pay for their board.

The idea was all right theoretically, but was a failure financially, as many of the players refused to pay. It is proposed to let the training house privilege to the football team, which will come to the house to live up to set rules. It is thought the new plan will prove successful.

Following this ceremony Mayor Phelan will present the "Tidens" (Tidens) football statue awarded to the University of California, as winner of two out of three games. This ceremony will take place under the beautiful Berkeley oaks, and there will be music by Elium's band, speeches, songs and a general jollification.

An innovation this year will be an address by a woman student, Miss Alice Duffy, and the presentation of a loving cup to Mrs. Hearst. Neat Blue and Gold tickets will be issued, and the exercises will be held at the new school grounds. The committee in charge consists of Miss L. M. Macaulay, Miss M. G. Wilshire, Miss M. S. Richard, E. A. Clausen, M. W. Nash and W. G. Parsons.

THIS NEW ANNOUNCEMENT OF COURSES.

A change and improvement are marked in the announcement of courses for the coming year just issued by the University. The curriculum has been extended, and there has been a number of changes in the faculty. George Howison, Mills, professor of intellectual and moral philosophy and civil polity; Irving Stringham, professor of mathematics; George W. M. Macaulay, professor of the German language and literature; and Percival Lewis, assistant professor of physics, will all return from Europe. Professor Joseph Le Conte, Professor Alexis F. Lange, Professor W. C. Jones and Librarian C. P. Smith will all be absent during the coming year.

An important change is the reduction to three recitations per week of all those courses in history, German and French, which heretofore had four recitations per week. It has been found possible to accomplish just as much work in three recitations as in four, and with a considerable saving of time.

The philosophy department will be greatly strengthened by the return of Professor Charles M. Bakewell as associate professor of philosophy. Professor Howison, who has been for a year in Oxford engaged in philosophical writings, will next write courses in the "History of Philosophy," the "Development of Mental and Social Philosophy," and will conduct a philosophical seminar for graduates in "Fundamental Problems of Logic." Dr. Bakewell will give instruction in "Plato and Aristotle," "Scholastic Philosophy," and "Aristotle."

The School of Knowledge, Dr. Bakewell graduated from the University of California, in 1889. He received his Ph. D. from Harvard in 1904. He studied for some little time at the University of Paris. His interest is particularly in Greek and medieval philosophy.

The absence of Professor Macaulay will render necessary considerable reorganization of the work in history. Thomas Rutherford Bacon, professor of modern European history, will be in charge of the course in "The Byzantine Empire and the Constitution of Greece." Dr. A. C. Thompson, Thomas W. Page will enlarge his work in economic history by new courses in "Western Civilization in Its Economic Aspects—1066-1763," "Internal Commerce from the Peace of Paris to the Congress of Vienna, 1815," and "The Public Domain." Dr. K. C. Balcock will give a new course, "The Diplomatic History of the United States." It will be a study of the negotiations, treaties, arbitrations and congresses in which the United States has been a party—Treaties, Arbitrations, Treaties, and so forth. The historian's treatment will probably be strengthened by the addition of lectures from the East.

Professor Isaac Fisq, who has heretofore divided his time between the departments of Latin and Greek, will be transferred to the German department, and will be the new professor of Latin. He will give new courses in "Herodotus," "The Attic Orators," "Thucydides," "Euripides," and "The Frogs of Aristophanes." An interesting feature of his work will be a series of weekly lectures on the great plays of Greece, not only for those who have a knowledge of Greek, but also for those who are not acquainted with the language.

Dr. Martin Kellogg, former President of the University, as professor of Latin and Greek will probably offer some work in Latin.

Professor Gayley will give a series of weekly lectures on "Great Books." Professor Gayley's other courses will be "The History of Poetry in the Nineteenth Century," "Shakespeare," "Oral Debates Upon Literary Topics," "Literary Criticism."

CALIFORNIA LADIES.
Experience With Drink.

"While using Mocha and Java coffee, I was finally thrown into a serious case of nervous prostration, with heart trouble and dizzy headaches. My husband also had most serious stomach trouble for years. We finally gave up coffee and began the use of Postum. Both husband and myself have now been perfectly well for three years."

Mrs. C. R. Holmes of 1946 Adair St., and Mrs. Adel Leonard, 234 Twenty-seventh St., Los Angeles, both tried Postum Food Coffee, but did not boil it fifteen minutes, according to directions, and therefore did not like it. I made a cup for each of them the right way and now they use it daily and like it very much.

"Mrs. Ida Sherman of 613 Wentworth Ave., Chicago had been ill for years with dyspepsia and nervousness, and I urged her to leave off coffee and take Postum Food Coffee. She now writes me that she is entirely cured."

"Mrs. Julia Moore of Riverside, Cal., and also Mrs. Lily Staln of Riverside, were both ill for some years with heart trouble. I told them of my experience with coffee and induced them to drop it and take up Postum Food Coffee. Mrs. Moore was cured and in three months after making the change Mrs. Staln wrote that she had been relieved more from leaving off coffee and using Postum than she had obtained from any medicines."

"I am naturally a strong advocate of Postum." Mrs. Ina Maud Magee, 122 N. John St., E. Los Angeles, California.

BONDS CARRY
AT BERKELEY.New Schools Will Be Erected in College
Town.

BERKELEY, May 9.—The citizens of Berkeley decided yesterday by a vote of 1,000 to 1,000 to let the town for $100,000 with which to purchase sites and erect new school buildings.

As it requires a two-thirds majority to carry a bond election the fight was won by a narrow margin of 23 votes.

It is expected to be voted on the 13th of this month, and will be cast as bonds of three bonds with against them.

The strongest opposition to the bonds came from West Berkeley where the vote stood over 2 to 1 against the issue.

The vote was as follows:

1. North Berkeley—For bonds, 151; against, 30; majority for, 151.

2. Telegraph Avenue and Dwight Way—For, 153; against, 29; majority for, 124.

3. 2A. Addison Street and Stanford Place—For, 132; against, 43; majority for, 90.

4. No. 3B. Dwight Way and Shattuck Avenue—For, 141; against, 19; majority for, 122.

FOUND DEAD BY HER HUSBAND.

BERKELEY, May 9.—The dead body of Mrs. Agnes Graves, wife of Conductor Fred Graves of the Berkeley local was found by her husband when he returned from work early last evening. The body was lying on the floor by the side of the bed in the home at 213 Via Street.

Dr. J. S. Eastman was immediately summoned but found that Mrs. Graves had been dead for some time. She evidently died from a single near-by lamp which had been overturned and a large lamp thrown down and broken.

It is supposed that in a fit of desperation she drank the contents of a bottle of oil which she had purchased from a druggist in the neighborhood.

The body was found in a condition which Graves promised to reform. For sometime she succeeded in overcoming her craving for strong drink but lately she had again become a victim to the old habit.

PERSONAL.

Rev. E. F. Dinsmore of Santa Barbara, former pastor of the Congregational Church at that place, was in town yesterday, giving a talk on the subject of temperance.

Rev. Dinsmore has been attending the University Conference at Berkeley and will return to his home in Santa Barbara shortly.

W. R. Davis said that there was a lack of unanimity of action among the business men of the city. They allowed themselves to be occupied too much with their own affairs.

"Here we are," continued, "bickering over the closing of the side doors of saloons. Men are spending their time trying to close a side door on an impossible go-mill which does not do any good."

"There is no time for a man to go to a saloon," he said, "and the time is useless. This city is cosmopolitan. It is made up of all nationalities. If any one wants a glass of beer or a glass of wine, he can have it. We should reform them. We should pay more attention to the commercial interests of the city, than the spiritual welfare of its citizens."

W. R. Davis was the next speaker.

"I understand," he said, "that the subject of discussion was consolidation. The first question was what was done to the city against consolidation, the middle of the meeting was devoted to an exhibition of the topic. Now we come to the appointment of a committee to look after the matter, the committee to consist of the President, Secretary and a few others."

Secretary Wilbur Walker stated that the merchants had for a year been trying to knock out the vehicle tax of Alameda.

"The first question was what was done to the city against consolidation, the middle of the meeting was devoted to an exhibition of the topic. Now we come to the appointment of a committee to look after the matter, the committee to consist of the President, Secretary and a few others."

Secretary Wilbur Walker recommended that the principal streets be swept by hand instead of by machine. The resolution also provided for the appointment of a committee to look after the matter, the committee to consist of the President, Secretary and a few others.

Secretary Wilbur Walker stated that the matter of street sweeping had been given considerable attention. He did not wish to add any extra expense to the city.

"If it cost more to have the streets cleaned, the public convenience could be better for transportation and for government. Take San Jose and Santa Clara for instance. When you pass an imaginary line between the two cities on the street, the cost of fare is about the same. The cost of cleaning the streets in San Jose is very unsatisfactory. It is not good for the city to have a bad name."

SQUABBLE OVER THE CHOICE OF REFEREE.

Jeffries Says Siler or White or No Fight and Corbett Insists on Sam Austin.

Unless Corbett or Jeffries backs down from the stand each has taken on the referee question there may be no fight at all on Friday night. It is rather late in the day for a hitch to arise over a referee in a championship battle, and unless it is speedily settled the suspicion in the public's mind that the whole affair is a hippodrome will become a certainty.

When the articles of agreement for the fight were drawn up Sam Austin, the well-known sporting writer, was selected as referee, and every one thought that question was settled. Now, however, Jeffries has come out with a flat-footed declaration that he will not stand for Austin, and that the fight must be referred either by George Siler or Charley White, or there will be no gloves flying in the ring Friday night so far as he is concerned. His manager, Brady, takes the same stand, and accuses Corbett of trying to squirm out of the fight at the last moment. Corbett is just as emphatic in asserting that Sam Austin, the referee originally agreed on, must be the third man in the ring. He will not consider White as a referee for a moment. White was Fitzsimmons' principal trainer in his fight with Fitzsimmons, and it will be remembered that he succeeded in supplanting Billy Delaney in Corbett's confidence to such an extent that the relations between Delaney and Corbett became decidedly strained, and the veteran trainer in disgust washed his hands of all responsibility for the result, which was so disastrous to Corbett.

CITY OF ALAMEDA

FREEHOLDERS KILLED IN STILL AT WORK. SAN FRANCISCO.

Library Trustees Make James F. Rowe of Some Good Suggestions.

ALAMEDA, May 9.—The Board of Freeholders at its meeting last night was addressed by Library Trustees Maslin and Bowers, who protested against the Library Board being included in the one-twelfth monthly expenditure restriction proposed as a feature of the charter. They represented that it was often necessary to expend more for books in a given month than one-twelfth of their allowance. The Freeholders, by unanimous consent, agreed to except the Free Library Trustees from the restrictive provision.

It is planned to incorporate a clause in the charter which will give the Mayor the power to appoint the Superintendent of Streets, who shall have office for two years. The Mayor is also to appoint five members of the Board of Education, who are to serve from one to five years. They may be appointed upon lot, arrangement will it is claimed, tend to eliminate politics from the department, as but one new member will be appointed each year and the harmony of the Board, it is argued, will not be disrupted as under the former elective provision.

WORK DONE BY MERCHANTS.

Annual Report Read Last Night by Secretary Walker.

Since then, however, White has been very close to Brady, and Corbett evidently fears that he would not get a square deal with White in the ring.

Jeffries says some harsh things of his prospective opponent. Corbett's statement that he used to knock Jeffries' out every morning before breakfast at Carson has stung the champion, and he comes back in this fashion:

"I want to tell Mr. Corbett that he lies when he says he ever knocked me out at Carson. I went there as his guest and worked with him for nothing, and its rather mean of him to lie about me. The truth is, he never would box with me on the level in Carson, and he must prefer to do his exercise punching upon Billy Woods with his jaw and stomach protector.

"I never thought that Mr. Corbett was a 'cine' for me and I never underrated his ability as a great boxer, but I believe I could beat him the best day he ever lived. I have made my record fighting men in their prime. Mr. Corbett, in his five years as champion, fought two old men—John L. Sullivan and Charlie Mitchell—both of whom were not fit to enter a ring. They would not be allowed to do so under the present law requiring a physician's certificate. When he did meet a live one—Fitzsimmons—he was defeated."

John Cossidine, Corbett's backer, offers to bet $500 that Jeffries will not stop Corbett in fifteen rounds. So far, however, there has been but one bet recorded, Sylvia Warren wagering $300 to $500 on Corbett.

At the meeting of the Merchants' Exchange last night Secretary Walker read his annual report as follows:

To the officers and members of the Merchants' Exchange of Oakland—Gentlemen: In beginning my annual report I desire to congratulate the Directors and members of the Exchange on the harmony and good feeling which has existed in our organization during the past year.

Our Directors have transacted the business of the year in a compact and successfully and our weekly meetings have been pleasant to those who attended and productive of good to the merchants of Oakland and also to the citizens generally. Although we have not been over so we have been without a quorum only twice during the year and then only lacked one vote. The committees have served faithfully and to the best of their ability to perform their duties, and we are grateful to them for their successful work.

The report of the Merchants' Exchange for the year 1900 shows a balance of $119,55. All liabilities are paid to May 1.

1. After the organization of the present Board of Directors the first matter to which their attention was directed was the stamping stamp. This is the most important business accomplished during the past year. Through the exertions of the Board of Directors generally this octopus was entirely and permanently extirpated. This was a direct benefit of thousands of dollars to the merchants of Oakland, as some of our members were paying as high as $5 a month for stamps which produced them nothing in return.

2. During the months of June and July much attention was given to the matter of filling in the proposed hand lines which were to connect the Pacific Coast with the Tropic of Cancer, when an eastbound fast fruit train drawn by two locomotives, dashed through an open switch and down a high embankment.

The dead are: Louis Panta, engineer, Rockford, Ill.; John P. Johnson, engineer, two boys, aged about 2 years, who were stealing a ride, names unknown.

The injure: Frank Rehmeier and Andy Sholer. Both will recover.

Engineer Rehmeier and Sholer jumped from the engine before the end of the siding was reached and escaped with a few injuries.

SANTA FE LINE.

If all the promises of the Santa Fe and San Joaquin Valley Railroad officials fructify, the Santa Fe will run a through passenger train from Chicago to San Francisco beginning in the first week of June, says the Call. Plans, schedules, time tables, etc., are now under course of preparation, and definite announcements will soon be made.

General Superintendent Wells, who is stationed at Los Angeles, is in conference with the local officials. He thinks it very likely that a general conference between the local representatives and the officers of the Santa Fe at Chicago will be held during the latter part of the month to complete arrangements for the passenger service of the through line.

Every day carloads of freight are landed in this city on the through route of the Santa Fe. The new express will be commissioned as soon as all necessary details are arranged for the initial trip.

GOES TO SAN MATEO.

The San Francisco and San Mateo Electric Railway was yesterday granted a franchise to operate its line through the streets of San Mateo. This means an early construction of a through road from this city to the San Mateo. San Mateo has directed that the road should be laid by a right of way through private property for a distance of eight miles from its present terminus, and when the system is completed it will be exactly twenty miles in length, and will parallel the Southern Pacific road and doubt will be brief competition for traffic between the two terminals mentioned.

The fact that eight miles of the road will be through private grounds insures an increased speed and a consequent quick trip.

UNDER NEW YORK.

A dispatch from New York says:

The Pennsylvania Railroad, not content with absorbing the various competing lines in its ambition to merit the title "Standard railway of the world," has planned a gigantic project which will connect all the great cities of North America.

Eventually there will be a network of lines from coast to coast.

The Merchants' Exchange are in favor of a general tax sufficient to maintain the municipal government, but are not in favor of special or class taxes.

They are in favor of a general and inexpensive to collect, and productive more of profanity than of profit.
